Since acquiring the Nelian S22 in January, 2012 we have completed eighty four (84) examinations involving pulmonary, viral, cardiovascular, arterial, digestive and renal. Of the percentage of diagnostics with Nelian S22 that have been supported by laboratory or other - (X ray etc), approximately eighty percent revealed close support in favor the Nelian S22. We have also found evidence of cancer in two patients who are still in treatment (with strict understanding that our diagnostics are subject to lab and other examinations).

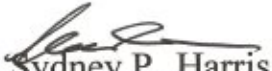

The benefits of working with Nelian S22 are it's ability to identify specific health issues while providing random therapies that may benefit the patient. There is yet another factor that is of great value which is the Nelian's ability to provide written and graphic information regarding patient's health. Not only does this provide valuable information but also a record of changes reflecting therapeutic treatment.

Complex Nelian offers many advantages in that it's wide, in-depth Analysis and providing a wealth of information concerning the patient.

As for improvements in the complex or software, we of course welcome improvements and advances in both diagnostics and therapies. There is much room for advances in this kind of technology and for those companies that are the forefront - the rewards are very, very great.

As for improving - product development - innovative research - And very helpfully - creation of Nelian practioner club in which everyone could communicate ideas and application techniques. Aside from language issues - it could all be coordinated through Nelian's main office - which would likewise benefit yourselves.
